by Business-Wire

CHICAGO--(BUSINESS WIRE)--June 13, 2006--Two unique niche organizations have teamed together to offer wealthy families greater peace of mind in today's volatile, high risk world. It was announced today at the Family Office Forum in Chicago that Clayton Consultants, an international personal security firm headquartered in San Diego, California, has entered into an agreement with New Hampshire based WorldClinic, the first private telemedical practice, to offer comprehensive health care and medical support services worldwide.

Together, the organizations have developed the World Shield package of services, providing the globetrotting elite with personal security and access to round-the-clock medical care wherever they may be.

"We're extremely proud to be able to unveil the first-of-its kind service we call World Shield," said Jack Cloonan, Clayton Consultants' President. "Clayton Consultants retains the largest and most experienced team of security and crisis consultants in the world. With native experts on every continent, we've successfully resolved more than 700 kidnappings and more than 850 cases of extortion on behalf of our clients. From the Philippines to Colombia to South Africa to Iraq, we've protected our clients from virtually every security threat imaginable. Now with the groundbreaking 24/7 telemedicine system offered by WorldClinic, our joint World Shield service adds health concerns to the list of crises we can protect our clients from."

"On the surface, we seem to be two very different kinds of organizations," said Daniel Carlin, M.D., founder and CEO of WorldClinic. "It's actually a natural marriage. We're both organizations centered on managing critical risks and dealing effectively with crisis and emergencies at any hour - occurring often at some of the most dangerous places to be traveling today. Like Clayton Consultants, we are a collection of experts, focused on safety, well-being, and complete customer satisfaction. It's a neat fit to be able to offer our members the two things they worry about most - their health and their general security. At the end of the day, Clayton and WorldClinic are both about providing clients with the comfort that their lives and the lives of their families are indeed in good hands - and that we are able to save those lives should an incident occur."
